MOTTO—LIVE FOR OUR FRIENDS—DO THE GREATEST AMOUNT OF GOOD WE CAN TO THE LARGEST NUMBER OF PEOPLE.

Terms: $1. Per Year In Advance.

BARBOURVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1905.

Second Year. Vol. 2. No. 21.

TO-DAY

Judge Cochran Will Decide Whether or Not Federal Court Takes Jurisdiction In Caleb Powers Case.

United States Judge A. M. J. Cochran, of the Eastern district of Kentucky, notified the Attorneys through the Clerk of the Federal Court at Covington last Monday that the opinion would be handed down in the Caleb Powers case at 10:30 o'clock on Friday July 7, at Maysville. This opinion will decide whether or not the case shall be transferred to Federal Jurisdiction from the Scott Circuit Court.

His many friends here as well as elsewhere are waiting with eager desire to know just what that opinion will be, feeling that should the contention of the defendant be upheld by the Court, his troubles will speedily be ended and he again restored to his friends of former days.

There is no doubt of his innocence, then why should he not be given his liberty again.

RED MEN

Gave Most Delightful Pic-Nic and Everybody Delighted and Entertained.

The 4th Proved a Day of Sunshine and Pleasure to All.

Big Parade in Indian Uniform Proved A Very Attractive Feature.

The Red Men's Cornet Band of this City Furnished Splendid Music For the Occasion.

By the time the sun had peeped above the hills surrounding our little city Tuesday morning, every Red Man was astir, and hustling to make ready for the Big Day that was before them, everyone determined to make the day a successful one in spite of the many obstacles that had appeared to block the way.

The first of the series of troubles which the Red Men encountered in giving their picnic was the Board of Health, in refusing to permit them to hold their picnic on the Fair Grounds, on account of the small-pox scare, and threatened to call it off altogether, but by persuasion and perseverance, finally secured permission to use Judge S. B. Dishman's woodland, which he generously permitted to be used for the occasion.

Next followed the disappointment in securing speakers who had previously consented to be present, and at the last moment it became necessary to make other arrangements in that respect. But this was not all. The Red Men's Band, that was to furnish the music, after practicing for the occasion, was disappointed by their leader, W. F. Baker being called away the day before and not being present, and Wm. "Patsy" McDaniel the Tuba player absent, while Prof. W. M. Baker, the instructor was ill and not able to fill his place, it looked discouraging, but the determination to not be outdone prevailed and hasty arrangements were made and Mr. Chas. Walker, of Middlesboro, was secured to lead the Band and we had plenty of splendid music anyway, as well as good speaking.

Promptly at 9:30 o'clock, the line of parade was formed at the Lodge room, and headed by the Band, marched to the ground with a large representative delegation from Pineville, Fourmile, and Artemus, joining in the parade. There must have been more than one hundred persons all in full uniform.

After arriving at the grounds, and listening to some selections of music, Rev. John T. Stamper was introduced as the first orator of the day and he delivered a splendid address, after which an adjournment was given for dinner and hand-shaking.

After dinner, the Red Men, mounted on horseback, started on the war path in full uniform, and after making a dash through the grounds, came out and dashed through the principal streets of the town, then back to the grounds again where a pale face was sighted, trespassing on the hunting grounds. A company of warriors were immediately sent out to capture him and bring him into the camp of the Tribe. After a long and exciting chase through the grounds, he was finally captured and as a prisoner was lead to camp and left in charge of a few trusty braves while a council was held among the Chiefs where it was decided that the prisoner should be burned at the stake. This having been agreed upon, the captive was taken from the tepee and tied to the stake and the torch applied to the fagots and while the flames leaped, the warriors danced around the fire, carrying out the execution in a realistic manner. This was followed by a real war dance which attracted the attention of every person on the grounds.

More music followed, after which Judge McDonald was introduced and he gave a splendid address.

The remainder of the day was spent in chatting with friends and mingling with them on the grounds, watching the base ball and enjoying the abundant refreshments that were on the grounds in such abundant quantities and served so nicely by the men in charge of the different stands.

The crowd, while not so large as we had hoped to see, was a most creditable one to any community, and during the entire day there was not a person seen on or about the grounds who appeared to have even smelled intoxicating drinks of any kind. Not a loud or harsh word was heard, and everybody was in the best of humor.

There were a number of the Daughters of Pocahontas from Fourmile present and helped to swell the number and besides making a good appearance, have aroused considerable interest in establishing a Camp here.

While the occasion was not as great a financial success as was hoped for, yet all feel glad that through the Red Men, the citizens of Barbourville and Knox county were permitted to enjoy the glorious Fourth as the guests of Tchopitoulas Trib, No. 111, Improved Order of Red Men, and have a day of real pleasure and amusement.

DELIGHTFUL

Entertainment given by the Ladies of the Maccabees at Institute Chapel Friday Night.

The Ladies of the Maccabees of this city presented Ida Ward or "The Poor Relation" to a well-filled house last Friday night and the affair was in every way a decided success.

Mrs. J. R. Tuggle played the part of Mrs. Golding and Mrs. A. W. Hopper played Alma Golding, the eldest daughter, while Miss Mayo Tinsley acted Jessie Golding, the younger daughter. All played their parts well.

Mrs. G. W. Tye played the part of Ida Ward, the poor relation, who came to visit the Goldings. She did well and made a good character.

Mr. W. F. Amis represented an uncle, Joe Goodman, and Master George Miller represented his little son Jack. They were both good in their parts.

T. D. Tinsley represented Hugh Raymond, a rich young man whom Alma Golding was interested in and did not want her poor cousin, Ida, to meet, but he met her and became infatuated with her in spite of all her planning.

Rittie Malone, the Irish house maid, was played by Mrs. D. H. Williams and was the best feature of the play. She was so real and kept the audience in an uproar of laughter all the time she was on the stage with her Irish wit and quaint remarks.

The play was given in six acts but they were all short and interesting and the time seemed short.

The entertainment was given in the interest of the Hive of this city and we are informed that they realized a nice little sum, taking in at the door $25, besides the comps, and reserved seat tickets that were given out.

We congratulate the Ladies in this bit of enterprise and are sincerely glad that they made it so successful.

The Red Men's Band played an opening for them after which music for the remainder of the evening was furnished by Mrs. G. A. Lock at the piano and W. M. Baker leading on a violin and W. F. Baker with his cornet.

Everyone expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the evening's entertainment and trust this will not be the last one we will have the pleasure of witnessing here. We have splendid talent and such innocent amusements as this should be encouraged by liberal patronage.

Secret wedding

Soon Discovered.

What was intended by the contracting parties to be a little romance was discovered by the relatives and the facts made public before the affair was over.

Mr. L. S. Foley, of Williamsburg, came up to spend the Fourth and while here it was decided between himself and Miss Blanche Tuggle, daughter of Mrs. S. D. Tuggle, to launch upon the matrimonial sea. Securing the necessary license they repaired to the home of Judge J. S. Miller who soon pronounced the ceremony that united them for life.

Mr. Foley left that same night for Williamsburg where he is erecting a new residence preparatory to taking his bride, and it was because of the fact that this work was not completed that the wedding was intended to be kept secret or the present.

The news of the wedding soon spread and the friends of the bride have been showering congratulations upon her as the groom is away and not present to receive his share of them.

Mr. Foley is Deputy Clerk of the Whitley county court and is a popular young man, while the bride is a pretty and attractive young lady of our town. The best wishes of their many friends here follow them.

Teachers Institute.

The Knox county Teachers Institute will be held in this city beginning next Monday July 10. All the teachers in the county are expected and requested to attend.

Supt. of Schools.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

It is our earnest desire to have every member and friend of the M. E. Church, present at the Eleven o'clock service on next Sunday morning, as special efforts are being made to complete the necessary subscription, in order to close the contract for erecting the proposed new church in our town. Let everybody come out to this special service.

NEW COLLECTOR

Judge Cooper Sworn in as Successor to Judge Denton.

Many Changes in Deputies in Eighth District.

M. G. HIGNITE LANDS A PLUM

Judge J. S. Cooper of Pulaski county was inducted into the office of Revenue Collector of this Eighth District last Saturday July 1st, to succeed Judge James Denton who held the office for the past four and one half years, and his record as a man and as a Collector is equal to the best.

Many sweeping changes were made in the service and are largely due to the severe political contests that have been in this district during the past two years.

One of our townsmen to be benefited by the change is M. G. Hignite, Supt. of schools of this county who has been appointed Stamp Deputy of Anderson county and will be located at Lawrenceburg. This appointment carries with it a salary of $1500, per year.

We congratulate Mr. Hignite upon securing so lucrative a position.

The deputyship of the fifth division made up of the counties of Bell, Clay, Harlan, Knox, Leslie and Whitley, goes to James Ellison the Sheriff of Whitley county.

In turning over the office to Judge Cooper, Judge Denton accounted for and transferred all property belonging to the Government, of which the Collector is for his term of office custodian, including all the whiskey and brandy in the various warehouses, amounting in the aggregate 18,820,829 and 8-10 gallons, and representing a property value for the Government in future taxes of $20,703,912.78. This immense interest is distributed over the district and is stored in ugly-looking warehouses found in the different counties, but more largely in Anderson, Jessamine, Mercer and Letcher counties of the "Blue Grass." Other property of the Government necessary to the collection of this vast revenue is the stamp books, weighing beams, gaugers and weighers' outfits' record books, locks, seals bonds of distillers, stationery desks in the office at Danville and in the offices of the field deputies located at different points over the district.

SHALL OUR VOTING SYSTEM BE CHANGED?

Every state in the Union has now adopted the secret ballot system and every voter can cast his ballot for whom he chooses without making the fact known how his ballot was cast.

With many of us we care but little who knows how we cast our ballot, as we are free and independent to select our choice of the candidates and vote for them, but there are in many parts of our State, men who are dependent upon their position for the support of their families, and were it not for the secret ballot they would be compelled to vote as their employer dictated or not vote at all or else lose their position.

The Democrat party adopted the secret ballot about 14 years ago in Kentucky thinking that it would deprive the illiterate and negro vote of their suffrage and thus prevent the Republican party from ever gaining control of the State. In this they were disappointed and now they ask the people to repeal their act by voting at the coming November election to return to the viva voce or open ballot system.

We can not afford to take a backward step. It is just what the Democrat party is seeking and should the secret ballot be discarded we would be the only State in the Union without the secret ballot system.

No matter if you don't care who knows how you vote, remember there are thousands of voters in Kentucky who must keep their vote a secret or lose their job and for their sake and for the future success of the grand old Republican party vote for the secret ballot system to stay. It gives every man an equal show at the ballot box and as the Republican party stands for fairness, a free ballot and a fair count, we can not afford to destroy the secret ballot system and thus place the ballot in the hands of capitalists who will not only cast their ballot against us but also those of the thousands of their employees.

Vote to retain the secret ballot system.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

We often hear persons say that advertising does not pay, that people will not read advertisements and that their business will not justify spending money to advertise.

In reply we would say that if the business does not justify advertising you had better quit the business and try something that will.

Advertise your business and make out of it a business that will justify advertising. That is the only way to make a flourishing business and by starting at the bottom you can build up a fine paying business by advertising and honest dealing.

Be sure that you have the bargains you offer in print before you call upon the trade and then when you get customers in your house treat them right and make regular customers out of them.

Do not spend time worrying about your ad not being read, as this is an age in which the public is looking for bargains and they search the newspapers for them and when they see a firm advertising bargains they go at once to secure them, if they fail to find them the merchant is at fault and not the paper, so we repeat be sure you have the bargains to offer your customers.

As evidence that the ads are read in the Advocate we refer you to a little "lost" notice which appeared in last week's issue, of a watch chain. The paper was mailed at 6 o'clock Thursday evening and before 8 o'clock Friday morning the chain was returned to this office. This is only one instance which shows how it pays to advertise.

At the Democratic convention held at Flemingsburg to nominate a candidate to represent Fleming county in the next General Assembly, the convention broke up in a row and Paul Hefflin was nominated by the regularly organized convention and John D. Wyatt was nominated by the bolting delegates.

The squabble will be given an airing before the State Central Committee of the party and as there has been so much bitterness injected into the campaign just closed the Republicans have a splendid opportunity to elect the representative from F1 mi g this year.

Fleming county is naturally very close and only a few years ago O. L. Hinton a Republican represented the county.

Paul Hefflin is a Blackburn supporter while Wyatt is an supporter of Judge Paynter for U. S. Senator.

We hope to see the Republicans select the Representative and cast the vote of Fleming for a Republican U. S. Senator at the next general Assembly.

The law requires that a report of the financial condition of the county be published every year in a newspaper if there be one published in the county. We have called the attention of our County Attorney to this matter but as yet there has not been a report submitted to us for publication. We have been in the publishing business in Knox county continuously now for almost eighteen months and still no report. The fault is with our Fiscal Court. The public is entitled to know these facts and the law provides a penalty for failure of the Fiscal Court to comply with the law and we hope that honorable body will give this matter the proper attention without further delay.

In this connection we would say that the same law applies to cities and our City Council has neglected to comply with it, in having an "Annual report published". We hope the council will look into this matter and have the city Clerk prepare a report for publication showing the financial condition of our city.

Let us have these reports for publication without further delay. We do not want to scold, neither do we want to resort to the Circuit Court to compel these officials to do their duty.

Best Pop on earth at Bowman's. Barbourville 5,000.

We want to thank our friend and Bro. J. M. Wilson for the return of our watch chain which he found a few ago and found the owner through a little notice in the Advocate. Bro. Wilson is one of our progressive merchants as well as an enthusiastic Red Man and knows the value of printers ink.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Tinsley entertained a large number of the younger set last Monday evening in honor of their visitors. Miss Lydia Helton of Madison county and Miss Edna Hays of Winchester. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Misses Jess Dickinson and Gertrude Black, while Miss Eva Shively presided at the punch bowl. The color effect, in view of the date was patterned after the Natural colors, and was carried out in the favors and decorations. Refreshments consisted of ices, cakes and candies, and in these the color effect was also borne out.

R. W. Cole is traveling for Alshelber & Co. Grocery of Louisville, in the absence of his Bro. H. C. Cole, who has gone to Asheville, for his health.

Mrs. A. R. Carey is dangerously ill with but little hope of recovery.

Louis, the little son of Dr. E. B. Dishman is quite sick.

THE BABY.

Where did you come from, baby dear? Out of the every where into here. Where did you get your eyes so blue? Out of the sky as I came through. Where did you get that little tear? I found it waiting when I got here. What makes your forehead so smooth and bright? A soft hand stroked it as I went by. What makes your cheek like a warm white rose? I saw something better than anyone knows. Whence that three-cornered snail of bliss? Three angels gave me it on one kiss. Where did you get this pretty ear? God spoke, and it came out to hear. Where did you get those arms and hands? Love made itself into hooks and bands. Feet, whence did you come, you darling thing? From the same box as the cherub's wings. How did they all come to be you? God thought about me and so I grew. But how did you come to us, my dear? God thought about you, and so I am here.

No heathen god or goddess has ever had more zealous devotees than fashion, or a more absurd and humiliating ritual, or more mortifying and cruel penance. Her laws, like those of the Medes and the Persians, must be implicitly obeyed, but unlike them change, as certainly as the moon. They are rarely founded in reason, usually violate common sense, sometimes common decency, and uniformly common comfort.

All the strength of the world and all of it's beauty, all true joy, everything that consoles, that feeds hope or throws a ray of light along our dark paths, everything that makes us see across our poor lives a splendid gold and boundless future, comes to us from people of simplicity, those who have made another object of their desires than the passing satisfaction of selfishness and vanity, and have understood that the art of living is to know how to give one's life. Parents mold the characters of their children, or leave the molding to others—thus comforts or pesternents are made for our own homes and the world.

HOME is where the heart is. A place our feet may leave out but not our hearts. Home is where peace, joy comfort and happiness reign. Where fathers whistles merrily, where children are happy, joyous and gay; where the family gathers around the evening lamp, busy with books, the needle, the papers and playthings and basks in the sunshine of each other's love.

"Home is not merely four square walls, of wood and brick and spacious halls."

We would be glad to see all children grow to useful manhood and womanhood. They should be trained along the lines of industry. In short the home ought to be a sort of school for manual training, that through this useful occupation, the real heart of the child's mind might be readily perceived. Not all work, neither all play, but enough of both to make work and pleasure alike enjoyable and refreshing. Thus the child might be trained in useful ways, and obtain physical vigor now almost impossible by the unusual strain put on the child inclined to staidous habits.

MODERN Living is a complex affair, greatly in contrast with the simple modes of life of the earlier Americans and of their immediate descendants. All the appliances which have been invented—notably during the past generation—to give heightened comfort to the home, and to make labor easier have added to this complexity of living, and most materially to its cost. How materially, one would hardly believe until he had studied the matter for himself and discovered beyond a question that today a man cannot support a wife and bring up one child, living in a comfortable and not at all lavish manner, upon what his ancestor would have considered sufficient to rear a large family. He cannot do it on what it cost his ancestor of only two generations ago. As men and women are educated and taught to think for themselves, they will no longer follow blindly the lead of the so-called "fashionable" bell-wethers, but will recognize the charm of independent modes of thought and life, and will permit themselves to live according to their own ideals and in their own ways. They will see the folly of attempting to imitate the methods of the millionaire on the income of the average business or professional man, but will live their own lives, happy in doing the things which they really care to do, instead of the things which they do just because somebody else does them.

The woman who looks forward to a time when the lightening of household cares will give her time for mental development should begin the lightening up process at once. There is always a best way to do things. The benedict who gave his wife an easy lesson in saving time on the dish-washing by pitching the china and the fragments of the feast all in, to hot water together may not have struck the best way. But if the dishes came out of the scrimmage unbroken who could dispute his assertion that it was better than spending an hour in scraping the plates. Figuratively speaking there is a great deal of time wasted in scraping the plates—in magnifying trifles—in getting ready to do something. The real business of the day is crowded through in some way, but there are so many other things that are given undue prominence that by the time the day is over the poor house-mother is a bundle of nerves and weariness. But it isn't always so. The years that have opened nearly every avenue in the business world to women have taught many of them to apply business methods in the management of a home. Good rules of action get the answer wherever they are applied. If concentration is a necessity in the office it is equally important in the home; for where it is properly applied it enables one to accomplish the best results with the least labor.

Hot Springs Ostrich Farm.

About four years ago an ostrich farm was started at Hot Springs. My room-mate and I went out one afternoon to see the birds and were delighted with our trip. If you have the opportunity visit this place as it is real interesting, especially if you see them picking the birds, and riding and driving them.

At present there are 125 ostriches on the farm, which is an inclosure of seven acres. The ground is divided into lots, some of them small, others larger. An alley is left between some of the lots to keep the vicious males from fighting. Some of the more vicious ones are kept in the small inclosures with their mates, but most of them run in a flock in the large enclosures. They eat grass freely though some of the lots are stones and almost bare. They feed them green or dry hay and shipstuff mixed into chopped feed. They are fed in troughs about the same in height as for cattle. In the winter they are put into barns and are fed corn also. A number of them in a barn during cold weather keep warm as the birds are warm natured, though their thighs are always bare.

We can learn a good lesson from their custom of mating. They never marry (mate) but once and they always remain faithful to each other. If either male or female dies they never mate again, yet the ostrich lives to be 70 years old. They can strike a powerful blow forward with the foot but they never kick. The most vicious and largest bird is Bryan. He is sixteen years old, weighs 320 pounds and can trot a mile in two minutes and six seconds. I saw them harness and hitch Black Diamond to a four-wheel vehicle. The driver girded him with reins fastened to a halter around his head. He used a buggy whip and the bird trotted faster than I would care to ride behind him. Black Diamond is 21 years old, their oldest bird, weighs 310 pounds and is kept in a small enclosure with his mate. When they harness or pick the feathers they put a hood over their head as they cannot manage them without it. I saw one of the guides ride a bird like horse-back riding by holding to his wings without reins. He traveled faster than a person can run.

A bird lays about sixteen eggs per annum. They hatch their eggs in an incubator. One egg sells for $10. An ordinary egg weighs four or five pounds, and an ostrich a day old is about the size of a duck. The ostrich is full grown at about four years of age. After the birds are three years old the raw feathers of the male bird bring $75 and the female about $50 each year. These feathers are called the raw stock and are sent to New York each year and prepared for market.

I am glad to report to my Masonic brethren and friends and my church that I am wonderfully improved and am doing finely. I leave for home July 5 and will preach at Barboursville Sunday July 9. While I have not gained in pounds I have gained in strength and am rid of my rheumatism. Yours truly,

C. K. DICKEY.

School began here Monday morning with Mrs. Brown as instructress.

Mrs. Nancy C. Hammons has purchased a graphophone which is quite amusing to the young folks.

To the Investors and Stockholders:-

We offer subject to sale 100,000 Shares of the Capital stock of the Carolina Copper Company at

$.50 PER SHARE.

This Company is capitalized for $1,000,000. and is divided into 1,000,000 Shares of $1.00 Par Value.

The property of the Carolina Copper Company, which contains over Five Hundred Acres of land and includes the Holloway Mine which is the most prominent mine in the district, is located about fifty miles East of Danville, Virginia, on a spur of the Southern Railway, extending to Granville County, North Carolina.

Extensive development work has been carried on, by the expenditure of many thousands of dollars to determine the ore bodies, and the methods of treating the same. While the ore averages from Twenty to Thirty Dollars per ton Copper, also carrying a small per centage of Gold and Silver, Ninety per cent of this value can be saved by concentrating the ore. After the concentrating plant is completed, the company will then be on a paying basis and dividends forthcoming.

While the Company is only capitalized for $1,000,000., only 800,000 Shares have been issued, including the 100,000 Shares, which we are now offering, and furthermore, we are safe in saying that after this allotment is sold, no more stock will be offered, for the simple reason that these 100,000 Shares will supply ample funds for the erection of the Concentrating plant, and when completed the stock will no longer sell at $.50 Per Share, but will advance to $1.00 per share, and when the dividends are declared, the stock will go far above Par Value.

The Board of Directors are men of high repute, of which we hereby give the list as follows:-

Mr. J. E. Stott, Harrisburg, Pa.	Mr. T. F. Windle, Parkersburg, Pa.
Mr. W.A.P. Thompson, Coatesville, Pa.	Mr. Chas. P. Lukens, "
Mr. F. W. Speakman, "	Mr. W. W. Fry, Philadelphia, "
Mr. E. H. Doan, "	Mr. G. H. B. Martin, Camden, N. J.

We have prepared a prospectus and same will be mailed to you upon application; same gives you in detail the proposition we are now presenting to you and owing to the limited space which we have secured in this paper, we are unable to go into detail here.

Yours very truly,
